

A large white rectangular area in the center of the page, designed for writing. It is bounded by a thick black line at the top and bottom, and contains several horizontal black lines for text alignment.

